Naval Officers in Favor of Another He Wanted Money to Go to His Dead

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REFORT.)
WASHINGTON, July 9.—Information has been received at the Navy Department of the progress of the work of enlarging the stone drydock at Mare Island, Cal. At present the Hartford is in the dock, and is being thoroughly overhauled, The last Congress appropriated $20,000 for enlarging the dock.
The work now under way is that of priated $20,000 for enlarging the dock. The work now under way is that of scooping out the sides of the dock at the bottom to make it large enough to admit the battleship Iowa, the largest now building. It is probable that when the Philadelphia is docked that work will be pushed on enlarging the entrance to the dock and building a new caisson. This will necessitate a cofferdam in front of the dock, and the entrance will be blocked for about a month.

Commodore Matthews, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, says that a large dock is needed at Mare Island which will accommodate the largest battleships now in the navy and that may be constructed. It should be 700 feet long, 100 feet wide, and at least thirty feet over the sill, and broad enough at the bottom to afford opporenough at the bottom to afford opportunity for workmen to get to every portion of the battleships which breadth of beam extends to near the bottom of the ship. It is pointed out that the present dock, even after it is enlarged, cannot accommodate our vessels.

The Hartford, now being overhauled, makes it necessary to keep the Philadelphia waiting. Before the Philadelphia waiting. Before the Philadelphia waiting be waiting, as she is to return fom the Asiatic station when the Olympia will relieve her. Of course, the Puget Sound dock will be completed in the fall, and that will accommodate the largest of the battleships, but naval officers say, in addition to this dock, there should be another large one near San Francisco.

OVER ITS BANKS.

The Smoky Hill River Runs Rio Through Salina, Kan.

W

SALINA (Kan.,) July 9.—The Smoky Hill River broke over its banks last evening and this morning a large part of the east side of the city was under water. Rosedale Park was first flooded or the east sale of the city was under water. Rosedale Park was first flooded and after that the water spread rapidly. On Iron avenue, the principal business street of the city, the water is from one to two feet deep for half a mile on the east side, extending east from Front street. Many people have already been driven from their homes and boats are running in the streets. The river is still steadily rising and if it goes six inches higher a hundred people will be forced to leave their homes. Between midnight and 2 o'clock 'this morning the river rose at the rate of three inches an hour, but since that time the rise has not been so fast. The basements of all the business houses in the city are flooded. In the north and west parts of the city the situation is but little better.

THE CHICAGO BOBBER

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT; CHICAGO, July 2.—The body of the man shot and killed by Policeman Ro-senthal in front of the Auditorium last senthal in front of the Auditorium last night has been identified as that of Charles Gorman, who lived at the Hotel Somerset, Twelfth and Wabash avenue. From the laundry mark on his shirt he was supposed to be C. E. Cole( but the linen was borrowed before the shooting occurred and his real identity was established by the man who had befriended him.

On Monday afternoon Gorman received a telegram from his wife in St. Paul, saying that his baby daughter had died the night before and urging him to come to her. He made every effort to secure money to take him where his dead baby was and, after repeated failures, in a moment of desperation he attempted to rob Saloon-keeper McGloin that he might have funds to go to his wife.

Hast night about 6 o'clock Gorman met Cole as the latter was leaving the clubhouse, and showed him a telegram from his wife, telling him of the death of his wife, telling him of the death of his ehild. He tried to sell a large revolver to Cole, but the latter did not have the amount necessary, $18. Then the two men tried to pawn the weapon, but could get no more than $5 on it. Gorman then tried to trade it at the railroad office for a ticket to St. Paul, being unscessful. The two men then went back to the hotel, and about 7 o'clock Gorman said that he must renew his efforts to get money. He started down town, and was not again seen by Cole. His body was identified. In Gorman's trunk were found letters of recommendation from various bar-rooms where he had been employed, all speaking of him as a man of integrity.

Among the dead man's letters was one dated August 7, 1891, signed by Harry W. Stiles of Portland, Or., and recommended him as a good bartender.

NEW USE FOR BOYS.

A Great Industry Descloped in Chicago by Legignation. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
CHICAGO, July 9.—Boy-farming has suddenly become a great industry in Chicago. The last Legislature made some amendments to the act concerning dependent children. As the law now stands, every training-school for boys is to get $10 a month from the now stands, every training-school for boys is to get $10 a month from the county for every boy committed to its charge and this whether the county board has agreed to it or not. Training-schools for boys have agents out hunting up boys who can be brought within the wide definition the statute gives of dependent boys, or parents who are willing to get rid of their boys. The result is a ten-fold increase in the number of alleged "dependant" boys. The county board resolved to fight the steal in the courts.

Commissioner Cummins, said today: "There is a profit of about $5 a month to the school on each boy. A profit of $5 a month is $60 a year and if a school can hunt up one thousand boys it can make $60,000 profit out of the county, and as the boys are committed until they are 21 years old, each becomes a profitable investment." boys is to get $10 a month from the jail at Grand Haven awaiting examination.

Pierce went to the field to work as usual, leaving his wife and the two children at home. About 10 o'clock May came running to him across the fields, crying, "Mayna is dead." Pierce ran to the house and found his wife dead in the kitchen. Her chin was gashed and her teeth knocked out and her neck black and bruised as if she had been choked to death. There were evidences of a terrible struggle.

At the inquest, owing to the contradictory stories told by George Kesshord and his evident desire to avert suspicion from himself and turn it toward a mythical tramp, Ressbro was arrested. It is believed that Kessbro did the killing, and that the little girl knows all about it, and perhaps assisted.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 9.-(B) Atlantic Cable!) The fifty-sixth anniversary of the water Derby in Great Britain opened today, and promises to be one of the most interesting on record. This is mainly due to the fact that the seven entries for the grand challenge cup, the "blue ribbon" of aquatics, includes that of the crew from Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

The grand challenge cup was first competed for in 1839. The Leander Rowing Club, composed mainly of except and Cambridge carsmen, are the holders of this trophy, and the Leander Beat Club holds the record for this race, 5m bis, made in 1851 over the Market Course of the condendate o ander Beat Club holds the record for this race, sm. bis., made in 1871 over the Henley course, one and one-half miles. Consequently there was an increase of interest in this event when it was decided, by drawing lots at the Town Hall of Henley on Saturday last, that Cornell was to meet the Leander crew, the most prominent oarsmen of Great Britain, this afternoon in the first heat in which the Americans take part.

Last year the race for the grand challenge cup was rowed in 7m. 22s., and as the men from Cornell have frequently covered the course in a little over seven minutes, their admirers, in spite of the gloomy reports from training quarters, believe that the winning crew would have to break the record.

It has been pronunced impossible to imagine a more picturesque scene than the one furnished on the waters and banks of the "old Father Thames" between Regatta Island, which is the starting point, and Henley bridge, a short distance above the finish. Henley is situated thirty-six miles, about an hour of railroad-train riding, from London, in an ideal English country district, and on regatta days crowds of excursionists travel from the great metropolis to the Thames, near Henley, to witness this unique aquatic carnival. The competing oarsmen, of course, are the main attraction, but their hundreds tropolis to the Thames, near Henley, to witness this unique aquatic carnival. The competing oarsmen, of course, are the main attraction, but their hundreds of admirers, male and female, are the people who make up the picturesque crowds at Henley.

At a rough estimate fully one hundred and twenty thousand people are expected to be present at the regatta which began today, continues tomorrow and ends Thursday. Every garret rentable has been secured days, weeks and even months ahead of this, the opening day of the regatta, and important personages connected with Cornell University, after wandering for hours about Henley and its neighborhood, were unable to obtain beds until some kind of makeshift accommodation was provided them at the training quarters of the Cornell crew.

This recalls the fact that the young men of Cornell will not lose for lack of encouragement from their patriotic fellow-citizens. The number of Amer.

This recalls the fact that the young men of Cornell will not lose for lack of encouragement from their patriotic fellow-citizens. The number of Americans present in Great Britain is by all accounts the largest ever recorded, Anyhow, the crowds of Americans at Henley during the three days of the regatta will utterly eclipse anything of the kind ever dreamed of. The visitors from the United States took old Father Time by the forelock and secured the best apartments and most comfortable houseboats it was possible for money to procure and determined to "root" for the boys from Cornell as long as their lungs hold out. In fact the average American rarely knows how dearly he loves his American country until he finds himself in a strange land and prepared to witness a struggle like the one in progress here now. Besides "Old Glory" never looks more beautiful than when waved defiantly among the flags of other nations and when the pulse quickens with the anticipation of a gallant struggle with the best muscle of Great Britain, the home of healthy sport.

This morning every hotel, cottage, private residence, house-boat, steam launch, electric launch and row-boat of all sizes and descriptions was occupied in some shape or other. Both the Berkshire and the Buckinghamshire shores of the river, popularly known as the Berks and Bucks, are alive with people and the waters swarmed with small craft taking part in this grand aquatic picnic.

The blending of color was really marvelous. Flags of all colors, sizes and shapes mingled with costumes of every description and hue imaginable, topped off with a mushroom growth of many colored parasols and umbrellas. From the ancient stone bridge above the finish to the starting line below Regatta. Island, the waters near the banks of the Thames was jammed with house-boats, launches, steam yachts, college barges, row-boats, cances and every other sort of craft known to aquatic humanity, crowded to the utmost with male and female rowing enthusiasts and all c thing goes off with clockwork regularity.

The Regatta Committee assigns a position to every boat on the river, and this rule also prevails in the case of the camping and coaching parties. Every boat has a distinguishing color and the blades of the oars, as a rule, are painted this color. The course is marked by piles, on top of which are white flags and at each quarter of a mile there is a bell, which is rung loudly as each competing boat approaches in order that the friends of the contestants may know exactly the intervals separas each competing boat approaches in order that the friends of the contestants may know exactly the intervals separating them. Only amateurs pure and simple can compete at the Henley regatta as the following extract from the rules clearly determines:

"No person is an amateur who has taken part in an open competition for a stake, money or entrance fee; and has knowingly competed against professionals for a prize; who has taught, pursued or assisted in the practice of athletic exercises of any kind for profit; who has been employed in or about boats or in manual labor for money or wages; who is, or has been by trade or employment for wages a mechanic, artisan, laborer, or engaged in any manual duites."

THE EVENTS.

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 9.—
The weather this morning was warm and cloudy, with a light wind blowing from the Buckinghamshire shore, but by the time the first heat was started at noon, a very strong wind was blowing from the same direction, giving the crews a great advantage there. The Cornell crew has the Buck's shore in its race with the Leander crew. Sunday's rest and yesterday's light practice had a permanent effect for the better on the Cornell crew. They arose early, and after a light breakfast, preceded by a good rub-down, they arrived at the boathouse at 9:20 o'clock in good spirits and confident of victory. Hager, Fennell and Spellman especially showed marked improvement.

Hager, in conversation with a representative of the Associated Press, said: "I think I am all right again, although not as fit as a week ago." Spellman and Fennell echoed the sentiment of all the crew when they said: "We will make the race of our lives, and we hope for the best results."

E. A. Thompson of the Argonauts of Toronto, said: "I think Cornell will win. Their time on the river has been faster than that of the Leander crew, and if they can only keep up their gait after the three-quarter post they will cross the finish-line first."

Charles Courtney, the coach of Cornell, was sick and did not come to the boathouse. The Cornell crew left the boathouse at 10 o'clock, and paddled the their racing shell slowly to the starting point.

The scene on the river was one of unusual animation even for Henley. A large fleet of houseboats and other creaft were moored along the banks of the Buck's shore, gaily decorated with flags, and filled with large parties of THE EVENTS. HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 9.-

QUEBEC, July 9.—A very large pilgrimage from Sherbrooke, Windsor Mills and Richmond left the last-named town at 10 o'clock last evening for the shrine of St. Anne de Baupre. There were two sections of the train, one running a few minutes behind the other.
The first section was standing at Crag's Road Station at 3 o'clock, taking water, when the second section, passing the semaphore, dashed into the rear Pullman coach of the first section, smashing it to kindling-wood and killing, it is said, everybody in that car except the Pullman conductor, who jumped.

Engineer McLeod and Fireman Perkins of the second section were both killed outright. The Pullman coach was telescoped into the first-class cars of the first section, killing a number of passengers. Among the killed are three priests. The number of killed is now placed at twenty-five; the injured at thirty-four.

The work of rescue was begun as soon as the blinding clouds of steam subsided. The trainmen railled the men together, and the dead and injured were taken from the ruins of the engine. Pullman and first-class coaches, and cared for wherever temporary quarters could be found. The women of the party ministered as best they could to the wants of the maimed passengers. They tore off their underclothing and made bandages for wounds, and, in the absence of surgeons, staunched the flow of blood and properly cleansed the hurts. A special train was soon sent to the scene and conveyed all who could be moved to Levis, where they were placed in hospitals. The arrival of the train at Levis beggars description. The sight of the unfortunate victims as they were carried from the cars was one never to be forgotten. The poor victims were covered with blood, and their clothing was torn to shreds. The second person taken from the train was Rev. Dr. Dingan, curate of St. George's, Windsor, who died as he was carried from the cars.

gan, curate of St. George's, Windsor, who died as he was carried from the cars,

The scene in the hospital after the arrival of the wounded, was a sad one. The unfortunate pilgrims occupied beds in the different wards of the hospital, and were attended by physicians of Levis and nuns and ladies of Levis. The cries of some of the wounded were fearful as they were attended by the physicians. Coroner Bellew of Quebec crossed to Levis to hold an inquest this afternoon when the bodies of all the killed arrived. It is hard to say where rests the blame for the accident. It has been suggested that Engineer McLeod might have dozed off to sleep and thus missed seeing the semaphore. A strict investigation will be held at once to determine where the responsibility rests.

and thus missed seeing the semaphore. A strict investigation will be held at once to determine where the responsibility rests.

The wreck was a frightful one. The engine of the colliding train seemed to rush up, then turned completely over, pinning Engineer McLeod underneath. The rest of the second train was derailed and badly smashed up. Instantly after the crash the air was filled with the shrieks and groans of the imprisoned passengers. The trainhands and station employees on the spot set to work manfully and extracted the passengers as quickly as possible. Thirteen dead were taken from the wreckage. T. J. Quinlan, the Grand Trunk passenger agent, who was on the first train, is not seriously wounded. In conversation with an Associated Press correspondent he said that he could not see how he escaped death, as the Pullman car he was in was completely shivered into splinters.

P. McHugh, one of the injured, said that he was sitting in the car in front of the Pullman when the accident occurred. He saw the locomotive of the second train coming through his car and he was only saved by a friend named Simon White. Following is a full corrected list of the dead and wounded.

THAT CHINESE TREATY.

EX-SECRETARY FOSTER DISCUSSES ITS PROVISIONS.

Li Hung Chang Had an Idea That Russia Would Interfere to Prevent Japan Acquiring a Hold on

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) WASHINGTON, July 9.—John Fos-ter, speaking today of the China-Japan peace negotiations, said:

ter, speaking today of the China-Japan peace negotiations, said:

"The viceroy, Li Hung Chang, had an idea, though I do not know that he had any assurance of it, that the Russian government would interfere to prevent Japan from securing any territory on the mainland of Asia, and the negotiations were made that much easier.

"But the Japanesse were not sure after the negotiations with Li that the terms made would be rigidly lived up to. They remembered that in 1878 England and France waged war on China, the war terminating with the treaty of Tien-Tsin. The two European nations withdrew their forces from China on the understanding that the latter nation would abide by the treaty which was, however, overthrown when it reached Peking, and there was nothing for them to do but fight it all over again and take Peking, where the final treaty was signed. Japan feared there might be a repetition of that procedure, but I am glad to say that such will not be the case.

"Feeling that any continuation of the war would only work further hardship on the defeated country, and that terms of peace were as reasonable as scould be possibly expected. I was strongly in favor of the adoption of the treaty, and urged it on the Chinese envoys with the result that it was finally ratified at Peking. There was considerable opposition to the treaty, and many of the viceroys and generals united in a protest against its adoption, but wiser judgment prevailed."

"If the Chicago brethren had only thought of going to the coin itself as a rithness they would have seen in a moment that the silver dollar was the unit by this direct statement imprinted in its very substance. You know the silver dollar never varied in weight in the United States from the foundation of the government to the demonetization in 1873, when it was worth $1.03 in gold dollars. When the change in ratio was made in 1834 it was the gold coin that was altered, not the silver dollar. The latter was always the immutable standard of value till struck down by the monopoe'ists who desired a dishonest, constantly-increasing single standard, in 1873. When the 'unit question comes up again, just remember to look at the coin itself."

not Brady, he answers the description and his actions are suspicious.

At 8 o'clock this morning a stranger rode up to the steamship office on a bicycle, and by his uncouth and travelstained appearance immediately attracted atention. He had no baggage, was attired in rough, well-worn clothing, wore a pair of rubber boots, from which the legs had ben cut at the ankles to make shoes.

He bought a steerage ticket in the name of J. C. Branham, and in payment tendered a new bank note which he extracted from a good-sized package. To the ticket agent he said that he had just arrived on his wheel from Portland.

In the hurry of sending of the steamer, the agent forgot all about the man, but afterward, remembering the suspicious actions of Branham, called at the Sheriff's office and was shown a photograph and description of Brady, which tallied very closely with the appearance of the mysterious passenger. San Francisco police have been notified to look out for the man with a bicycle.

THE CONVENTION PROPER. THE CONVENTION PROPER.

DENVER, July 9.—The fourth convention of the National Educational Association was opened this evening before two large audiences. The regular meeting was at the Central Presbyterian Church, where 4000 persons were gathered, while 2000 attended an overflow at the High School building, and thousands more were turned away. It is asserted that the attendance at the present convention is already larger than at any previous meeting of the association, and many hundreds more are arriving tonight.

The work of the Council of Education was completed today, and the next three days will be devoted to the labors of the general organization.

Superintendent Aarom Gove of the Denver schools, ex-president of the association and chairman of the Arrangements Committee, called the meeting to order and welcomed the convention. He was followed by Lieut.-Gov. Brush, Gov. McIntyre being in St. Louis, Mrs. McMurray and Mrs. A. J. Beavy, State Superintendents of Schools. Responses were made by President Butler, Secretary Shepard, Col. Francis W. Parker, principal of the Cook County Normal School, Chicago; ex-Gov. Northen of Georgia, who represents the Cotton Exposition, and who came to invite the teachers to attend it.

Music was given by the Apollo Club, composed of twenty Denver gentlemen. On motion of Gen. John Eaton, ex-Commissioner of Education of the United States, a telegram of greeting was sent to Commissioner Harris and Prof. Greenwood of Kansas City, now in Edinburgh.

the association, gave his annual address, "What Knowledge Is of Most Worth?"

"The question that I am asking—what knowledge is of most worth—is a very old one, and the answers to it that have been handed down through the enturies are many and various. It is a question that each age must put to itself, the answer from the standpoint of its wildest and deepest knowledge. The wisest philosophers have always seen, more or less clearly, the farreaching character of the question and the great importance of the answer.

"The very lastest cry is that studies and intellectual exercises are valuable in proportion as they stimulate energed brain areas, thus making the neglectation of Shakespeare, of Beethoven and of Leonardo da Vinct, solely a function of the circulation of the blood. But to sololists of this type philosophy and science can now make common answer. If it be true that spirit and reason rule the univers, then the highest and most enduring knowledge is of the things of the spirit. That subtle sense of the beautiful and the sublime which accompanies spiritual insight and is part of it, is the greatest achievement of which humanity is capable. To develop this sense in education is he task of art and literature, to interpret it is the work of philosophy, and to nourish it the function of religion.

"We now come in sight of the element of truth and permanence in that humanism which Petrarch and Erasmus spread over Europe with such high hopes and excellent intentions, but which Sturm, the Strassburg school-master, reduced to the dead, mechanical forms and the crude verbalism that bound the schools in fetters for centuries.

"The wonders and splendors of nature that had brought into avistance the Bismarck, is a continual source of disturbance and danger to any nation. Utility is a term that may be given either a very broad or a very narrow meaning. There are utilities higher and utilities lower; under no circumstances will the true teacher ever permit the former to be sacrificed to the latter. This would be done if, in its zeal for fitting the child for self-support, the scheois were to neglect to lay the foundation for that higher intellectual and spiritual life which constitutes humanity's full stature."

After a solo by Mrs. Jay Robinson of Denye, Dr. W. N. Haliman, superintendent of Indian schools, Washington, D. C., spoke on "The Next Step in the Education of the Indians." He said that education was naturally the first step in the civilization of the Indians. This should only be given to the younger persons and to them only after the breaking up of the tribal relations. The allotment of lands in severalty is too radical a change for older Indians; they conceive hostility for the advances of civilization which makis effective work upon the young very difficult. (The Cosmopolitan:) A current of electricity always heats the conductor through which it goes. The conversion into heat of the electrical energy is always complete. At noon today, judging from the number of American flags flying on all sides and by the many familiar faces about the water it was estimated that there were fully five thousand Americans present, prepared to sustain Cornell with cheering and every other mark of encouragement possible. One of the prettiest houseboats on the river was that of Frank Mackay of Chicago and of W. J. Ritchie of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Palmer and others equally well-known. American bunco-theerers in the crowd reaped a golden flarvest from the luckless Englishmen. The Eton public school crew was received with great enthusiasmi, and when and kept it throughout, winning easily in splendid form by one and one-quarter lengths in the best time of the day, 7m. 34/s.

At 2 o'clock the Cornell crew drove through the fields to the starting point, American college boys running and yelling after the vehicles and uttering cries which astonished the Britishers. A strong wind continued from the Buck's shore. All four races up to that time had been won by crews pulling on the Buck's shore. At 2:30 o'clock the Leanders paddled down the course to the starting point. They looked splendid in form and were loudly cheered.

In the first heat for Stewart's challenge cup for fours, the crew of the London Rowing Club defeated the crew of the Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto, Canada, by two feet. The race was exciting.

United States ambassador Bayard and a representative of the Associated Press was on the umpire's launch. The excitement was at fever heat when the course was cleared in preparation for the most important event of the day, the race between Cornell and Leander in the third of the first series of trial heats for the grand challenge cup. When the umpire put the crews in position, Cornell was the first in place, the Leander crew slowly paddling to the point assigned to it. Several boats followed in the wake of the crews, and the umpire sharply ordered them away, as they seemed to seriously interfere with the Leanders. The umpire then said: "Hurry up, Leander."

When the Leanders. The umpire then said: "Hurry up, Leander."

When the Leander crew was in place the umpire and the leander crew said "Yes."

A number of the Leander crew said "Yes." then Leander's stroke, C. W. Kent cried: "No, no." The umpire an instant before had said "Go."

Leander at the word started, half of the crew pulling for dear life. Others turned and shouted: "No, no ready." The umpire waved his hand to Cornell, which crew had taken the water promptly when the ween was given, had shot ahead and continued over the course.

The umpire's beat at first did not follow, and the Leander crew, with Coxswain F. C. Begg in a terrible rage, pulled the beat toward the impire's launch. Begg said: "I told you we were not ready." To this the umpire made no reply, and his launch steamed ahead after the Cornell crew, now far down the course.

made no reply, and his launch steamed ahead after the Cornell crew, now far down the course.

The Leanders, until the umpire's launch passed out of speaking distance, continued to shout wildly: "We are not ready; why did you serve us so?" The umpire did not look at them and increased the speed of his launch. Passing the end of Regatta Island, F. C. Colson, the Cornell coxswain, half turned and held up his hand toward the umpire's launch, but the umpire waved them on and Colson with a satisfied look quickly resumed his position and gave a sharp order to the crew who had relaxed the tremendous pace with which they started. Upon reaching the half-mile post, where the crowds began to thicken, the Cornell boys were loudly cheered. A few feet beyond this there were excited shouts from "both banks: "Where is Leander?" "Why don't they come?" "Are they "jost?" could be heard every few feet.

"An English crew would never have kept on," said an excited Britisher. Among the Americans the feeling was one of great disappointment. One said: "I would rather they had licked us than have a thing like this." However, the universal opinion among rowing authorities was that Cornell was perfectly right in rowing over the course and could have done nothing else in the face of the umpire's order. Cornell's time-was Sm. 11s.

Every few feet on the way to the finish line the excitement increased until, nearing the finish, the suspense was something tremendous. The umpire steamed up to the press stand amid great and loud exclamations from all sides. But the umpire was not in any way dismayed and he said: "The race is Cornell's"

us. But we are the winners just the same."

"I am sure we would have won," said Roe, "so I am sorry the Leanders did not put themselves to the test. Anyway it was no fault of ours."

"I suppose we should be enthusiastic," said S. J. Dyer, "but there is little to base upon."

"It was a glorious sight," Freeborn remarked, "as we came down the course. There was some compensation for the lack of excitement. There would have been no chance to take such glances at the scene if there had been a race."

Fennell remarked: "I am sorry now we did not slow up enough to study the faces of the pretty girls."

Hall said: "The umpire said 'Go,' and we could only obey."

"There was no glory in it," exclaimed Spellman, "but it was better than defeat."

Hager expressed the opinion that "it could hardly have been called good exercise."

Cornell did not get to its boathouse before a crowd of friends arrived to tender congratulations, but they were received very modestly.

Later in the day the Leander crew entered a protest against the decision of the umpire which protest was referred to the Board of Stewards. The umpire informed the reporter of the Associated Press that the Cornell crew was perfectly right in every way.

"The Leanders tell me that none of them said 'Yes' in answer to my inquiry whether they were ready or not. But we on the lafinch certainly understood them so."

The Board of Stewards this evening issued the following statement:

"The committee, while deeply regretting the most unfortunate misunderstanding at the start of the Cornell-Leander race, feel that they must abide by the laws of boat-racing, and cannot reverse the decision of the umpire and starter."

The members of the Leander crew are all wild against the umpire for his de-reverse the decision of the umpire and starter."

The members of the Leander crew are all wild against the umpire for his decision in favor of Cornell, and in their rage they say most unpleasant things against the Ithaca boys.

C. W. Kent, stroke of the Leander team, said: "I have rowed in many races, and I never met with such unsportsmanlike conduct. We had not heard the umpire say 'Go' when the mess was made."

Another member of the crew remarked: "We don't want any more such crews as Cornell."

"They are not sportsmen," said still another member of the Leanders, "and this is why Yale and Harvard won't row them, They are not wanted in England again. The only satisfaction that they will get is a good licking tomorrow."

A determined affort is being made by row them, They are not wanted in England again. The only satisfaction that they will get is a good licking tomorrow."

A determined effort is being made by the Britishers, led by the Leanders, to place the Cornell crew in the wrong and put the whole responsibility for the outcome upon their shoulders. The Leanders and their sympathizers ignore the decision of their own umpire, which is upheld by this evening's decision of the stewards. The general cry is "Damn America and Americans." As a matter of fact, the Cornell crew are not only strictly within their rights, but, in view of the umpire's orders, they could not well have done otherwise. It would have been a pretty quixotic thing had they disobeyed the umpire and returned to the post, but meantime Leander would have probably gone on and won the race. It is the Leanders who are showing a most unsportsmanilke spirit.

Andrew S. White, a nephew of "X-President Andrew D. White of Cornell, said to a reporter of the Associated Press this evening in regard to this thing: "It is the greatest outrage that was ever perpetrated our good faith. The attempt to put the blame on our boys is a dastardly thing. They could only obey the umpire. Before the regata we were warned on all sides to beware of the Leanders." They will do you in any way possible, it was said "They will run you into the post, as they did the French crew last year." We were told, even before the draw, that things had been fixed that our race would be against Leander went to the post determined not to face. We had the best position, and had beaten their best time."

Francis, the Cornell manager, said: "Our boys have done just right. It must be remembered that Leander is not the only crew we have to meet. Ever since we have been here we have been unfairly treated by the British Press."

Press."

Umpire Frank William, after the meeting of the stewards this evening, said: "I could not do different than send Cornell. Myself and assistant send Cornell. Myself and assistant saw that the crews were ready. I gave the word and both seemed to start. Then came calls from the Leanders, 'No, we are not ready.' Had I ordered the crew of the Cornells back they might say that because they were ahead at the start the English umpire recalled them to favor their opponents."

This version of the occurrence can be confirmed by the correspondent of the Associated Press. who confirmed by the correspondent of the Associated Press, who witnessed the race from the umpire's boat.

Sporting Life says: "Mr. Frank Willan, acting umpire, has offered to give a prize to the value of £100 for a Leander-Cornell race on the day the regatta closes. It remains to be seen whether the offer will have any result. Of course many people will blame Willan for not calling the rowers back, but it must be remembered that there is no appeal against the umpire's decision. It was an international contest and any semblance of partiality toward an English crew would have opened the floodates of American wrath."

Far and away the best race of the day was that of the London Rowing Club and the Argonauts of Toronto. Time and again it looked as if the Canadians were hopelessly defeated, but the manner in which they held on suggested the tenacity of a terrier. Cornell will meet tomorrow the crew of the Trinity Hall, Cambridge, which defeated the London Rowing Club today.

while the crews were pulling for the starting point, C. S. Francis, one of the trustees of Cornell University, who was in a boat, pulled up to the umpire's launch and demanded to betaken on board. The umpire politely refused saying; "My boat is full now."

Francis replied: "All right; I am an agent of the Cornell crew and I think you might favor me. I promised the boys I would follow and thus encourage them." But the umpire again denied his request, whereupon Francis returned to the shore.

The crews of the London Rowing

The crews of the London Rowing Club and the Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto started in the first heat for the Stewards' challenge cup for fours at 4:08 o'clock. The Canadians were first away, R. G. Muns setting the pace at 43 to the minute, which placed them a length ahead. But at the half-mile post the London crew had gained on them and they raced almost nose and nose down to the mile-post, which was passed at 4h. 13m. 57s. Rowing forty-six strokes to the minute the Argonauts then gained a slight advantage, but the pace told and F. P. Thompson splashed badly. The two boats from that time continued to race on about even terms until when, within a 'few feet of the finish, the London crew put in a splendid spurt and won by two feet, in 8m. 10s. The following is a summary of the events today:

THE BRITISH "BEEF."

LONDON, July 10.—The Chronicle says about the Henley regatta: "While Leander was fully justified in protesting, no shadow of blame rests upon the umpire. We say without hesitation that had the mistake occurred with two English amateur crews the crew that got off would certainly have returned to the starting post. That the Cornell stroke did not ease up is, we are sure, due to an insufficient knowledge of our custom in such cases." THE BRITISH "BEEF."

holding of a carnival of sports, of which a genuine buil-fight is to be the principal feature. It will be held at Gillette, one of the towns in the Cripple Creek district, and while no date has yet been announced, it will occur early in the fall.

The buil-fight will be conducted in the same way as in the City of Mexico and two of the most famous toreadors of the Mexican capital have been engaged to conduct the affair. A pen 140 feet in diameter has been constructed and seats for 10,000 persons are now being erected. A "Wild West" show will be another feature.

This will be the first real builfight ever witnessed in the United States. While the authorities state that they will prevent the affair, the management is confident that the law can be juggled with until the fight is ended.

The Shooting Committee, of which August Zimmerman is chairman, was busy all day. The committee stated definitely that George Helm of San Francisco was the winner of the German target, having shot a bullet straight into the center of the black. R. Busse of New York scored second best shot.

BEET-SUGAR. The Chino beet su ar factory started up operations for Superintendent Cottman at the works is that the percentage of sugar in the beets this year is higher than that of last year. The total output of this factory—the largest, by the way, in the United States—will be well up to twenty millions pounds of granulated sugar. This mill refines its own product instead of, as is customary with other mills, sending it to a refinery. A full description of the scene on the opening day at the Chino sugar-beet factory will be found in another column of The Times.

Times.

LEMONS. An opinion prevails that the reason why California lemons are not more salable in the Eastern markets is that they are not properly cured. Those who understand anything of the curing of lemons know that it is a difficult process. In this respect the lemon is at a disadvantage to the orange. The latter, if picked at the proper time, is marketable at once. With the lemon it is not so. Not only have lemons to be picked at the proper time, but they have to be carefully heated after that before they are in a marketable, condition. There is no known reason why the California lemon is not susceptible of undergoing the curing process equally as well as the Sicily lemon, but the fact remains that it is not cured to keep as well as the constant of the curing process.

Eggs are quoted as low as 17c by some dealers, but 17½ appears to be the average figure. Apples and pears are again quoted. Butter and other staples remain firm.

(The following quotations are for average grades of the products mentioned. For an extra choice article a somewhat better price than the highest quoted can usually be obtained, while for a product of decidedly inferior quality the seller will probably have to accept less than the lowest published quotation.)

Competition With France.

HENLEY (Eng...) July 9.—Among the arrivals here is M. H. de Young of San Francisco. Mr. de Young was questioned by the European agent of the Associated Press regarding the speech made by M. Hanotaux, the French Minister, at the banquet of the American Chamber of Commerce in Paris on Independence day. M. Hanotaux was quoted as saying that America would always need French wines. Mr. de Young said:

"Like a true Fronchman, M. Hanotaux gave utterance to many complimentary things about the United States and the made the announcement that the United States had not made or produced any wines or brandies, and that therefore the United States had not made or produced any wines or brandies, and that therefore the United States had not made or produced any wines or brandies, and that therefore the United States had not make or produced any wines or brandies, and that therefore the United States had not pet with France in this respect. I desire, in the interest of those of my own State, California, to contradict the illustrious gentleman. We have shipped thousands of gallons of the richest wines directly to France. Our foreign exports in 1894 amounted to 14,800,000 gallons. Before I left home two use of the German my, were exported. There is indirect competition with France in one of its leading products and with one of its principal customers.

With all due respect to France and its officials, I wish to inform them that within the borders of California there is more tillable land for the production of wine than there is no focular in France and Spain together. California do contains the largest vineyard in the word were five thousand acres. It would take 100 of the average vineyards of France to equal it."

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

VENTURA, July 9.—(Regular Corre ballots, which was held today to determine the ownership of the water and electric-lighting plants. The matter was fully and very freely discussed in all its bearings. The only opposition to the ownership by the city of the water and lighting systems came from W. F. Ewing, chairman of the Democratic County Committee, who stood alone as the spokesman of the opposition. W. E. Shepperd of the law firm of Shepperd & Eastin made a lengthy argument in favor of the bonds, and answered every question propounded by inquiring taxpayers. The meeting was in the nature of an educational symposium in the matter of municipal ownership of water and light.

Contrary to general expectation the election was quiet to a degree. The voting was done rapidly and was devoid of incident worthy of mention. Both the water and lighting bonds carried by handsome majorities, the vote being as follows: For the water bonds, 285; against, 42. For the lighting bonds, 285; against, 42. For the lighting bonds, 285; against, 43. The result was publicly known by 6:29 p.m., and the fact that Venturs city will control its water and lighting systems was received with marked enthusiasm.

ASSESSOR'S REPORT.

ASSESSOR'S REPORT.

Assessor James A. Donlon has nearly completed the assessment roll for 1895, which shows some facts of decided interest to taxpayers. The#total assessed valuation in 1895 is $7,719,113, an increase over 1894 of $255,274, which speaks well for the general prosperity of the county when the dry season of 1894 is taken into consideration. The most remarkable showing is that of the actual money assessed, which this year amounts to $161,787, an increase of $80,016 over 1894. Railroad property, which will be assessed by the State board, will probably raise the total county assessment over $1,000,000.

The report on fruit trees develops some figures which will prove of more than ordinary interest to fruit-grovers throughout Southern California. Classified, the report shows that there are in Ventura county fruit trees as follows:

These figures indicate an increased acreage in fruits within the past two years, and prove conclusively that Ventura county has something other than beans on which to rely for future pros-beans on which to rely for future pros-perity.

Other items included on the rolls show that there are 140 bicycles and 189 telephones in use in the county; 26,596 sheep divide the pasturage with 27,253 cattle, horses and hogs, and 4215 bee-hives are scattered among the hills.

The roll in full shows many interest-ing facts and figures, of which the above selections cover the most im-portant of general interest.

portant of general interest.

GOOD CROP PROSPECTS.

Crop prospects in Ventura county were never brighter than at this writing. For the past three days the prayer of the bean-farmer for low fogs in the evening and early morning has been answered, and the harvest of 1895 bids fair to be a record-breaker. In some of the more favored localities the fields are full of blossoms, and as high prices are predicted, the smile of the frijole farmer is as broad as his acres under cultivation.

The fruit-dryers are now in full operation, and running overtime to the limit of their capacity. The crop is up to the average in quality, and while not so large as that of 1894, is above the average. Growers who relied on nature and did not irrigate, are reaping the harvest of their forethought, as the non-irrigated fruit this year is larger and of finer quality and commands the best prices. Growers expect to reap a harvest next year, as fruit-buyers are showing a disposition thus early to contract for the crop of 1896 at good prices.

Reports from Hueneme indicate that the yield of barley will reach 306,000 sacks for shipment from that point.

They held their first rodeo on Monday and purchased the stock now on the range which will form the nucleus of the new enterprise.

A combination composed of a balky horse, a Chinese vegetable wagon and a hadly-scared Celestial caused an exciting runaway on Main street yesterday afternoon. For a short time it looked as though a serious accident would result. G. W. Crissman escaped a smash-up by a narrow margin. The runaway was finally rounded up, but not before an aged Mexican had been knocked down and seriously injured about the face and shoulders.

Electrician Thomas A. Rinz has entered into a contract with Ed Wagner and will furnish the latter's new residence throughout with incandescent lights. When this contract is completed Mr. Wagner will have one of the finest private residences in Ventura county.

E. C. Canet, buyer for Julius Hauser of Los Angeles, has closed a contract with W. B. Hobson of the Taylor Rancho for the purchase of 200 beef cattle, which will be driven to the Los Angeles market.

Mrs. Esther E. Nelll, aged 58 years, mother of W. B. Grow and Mrs. L. D. Wilson, died on Monday, July 8, and was burled today at 2 p.m. from the family residence on Poli street.

AUSTRALIAN WOOD PAVEMENTS.

The question as to what is the best material for street-pavements in cities is a highly important one. Vast amounts of money have been expended, especially during the last half-century, in an effort to find a substance which would fulfill all requirements for this purpose. The search is still going on. The ideal pavement is yet to be constructed. But considerable progress has been made, and very service asphalt, wood, etc., are now in use in the larger cities. Science and research better than any now in use, but in the mean time we shall have to make

A pamphlet by George W. Bell, en-"Street-paving in Sydney" (N. S. W.,) gives some very interesting facts as to the kind of pavements in use in that city and the methods of laying them. After experimenting with other substances, the authorities finally selected the native Australian woods as giving the best results. The writer of the pamphlet referred to says that the streets of that city are better paved than those of any city in the United States excepting Washington. From experience it has been learned that about five varieties of eucalyptus are superior to any others for paving purposes. These are red-gum, blue-gum, black-butt, tallow-

Fourteen years ago the city of Sydney discarded all other materials, and adopted wood for paving, with highly satisfactory results. "No other ma-terial now would be considered," says Mr. Bell, "and it is rapidly taking the place of other pavements, as new streets are opened and old ones being The first wood pavements were laid with open joints, or inch spaces, between the blocks. The fear with open joints, but it was found that heavy traffic battered down the corners and damaged the pavement. At length the plan was adopted of laying the blocks tightly together, after treating them with a non-absorbent solution of hot tar, pitch, etc. The effect of laying the blocks tightly together is to make a smooth and beautiful pavement, which Mr. Bell declares to be superior, in all that goes to make a desirable pavement, to any yet constructed. The blocks are laid on a solid foundation of concrete Experience has shown this to be absolutely ssary in order to assure per manency and smoothness. Two of the eading thoroughfares upon which the blocks had been in constant use, under heavy traffic, for eleven years, were recently repaired. It was found that the blocks showed no signs of deterioration or decay. They were taken up, the upper enus were saved, the upper ends were sawed, and toints. It is confidently believed that they will last from twelve to fifteen longer without further expense erete foundation had no frac tures and needed no repairs. The total cost of taking up the blocks, cleaning m, sawing off the worn ends, bathand replacing them with closed joints and top-dressing, is only 57 cents per quare yard.

The first cost of laying this pavement n Sydney, all items included, is $3.30 n Sydney, all items included, is $3.30 per square yard, and the estimated werage duration is twenty years. This compares very favorably with either stone, asphalt or brick. Mr. Bell places the duration of stone-cube pavement at sixteen years, asphalt at fourteen and brick at twelve years. rteen and brick at twelve years.

It was a terrible storm that recently swept over a large section of the country between the Rocky Mountains and the Mississippi River. ### AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

THE BURBANK.—The attraction at this house is "A Cold Day"—which has no plot, but is one continual round of joility and funnyisms throughout, and some excellent scenery is introduced. In the female characters Miss Rose Stillman and Miss Laura Adams both carry out their respective parts most satisfactorily. Harry Lewellyn has never appeared to better advantage at this theater. The parodies and songs are well received, and Prof. Fox, the bird and animal imitator, does some exceedingly elever work, and shows himself to be a master in his line. The same play runs throughout the week, with a Saturday matinee. Beginning on Sunday night Fred A. Cooper will appear in his original drama, "The Sunny South," and great preparations are being made for its production.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.—In a very quiet way Modini-Wood and Manager H. C. Wyatt have secured the services of some excellent principals, and are now busy selecting a suitable chorus to give an artistic rendering of the comic spera "Pinafore," the performance to take place in less than two weeks. Scenery is now being painted, and it is claimed the production will be an artistic presentation in every detail. After given at the Los Angeles Theater it will be taken to Avalon, and two evenings devoted to an elaborate production on the bay of Avalon, with aquatic accessories and nautical surroundings.

"The stirrings of resuscitation in Tammany are like the twitchings of a scotched reptile, and though it is after sunset with it, it seems disinclined to perish according to the correct and considerate custom of serpents generally. However, if it is necessary to kill it again, neither the power nor, the weapon will be wanting, and its ultimate collapse will be as complete as that of St. George's dragon or Andromeda's sea-monster."

Harry B. Torrey, who, in connection with Mr. Dyer, did such splendid work in the sthietic contests of the University of California team in their recent Eastern tour, has been spending some days in the city as the guest of his old friend and companion of the athletic team, Melville Doster, Jr. Mr. Torrey won many points for the university team by his magnificent hurdling, receiving the highest praise from Eastern athletes for the grace, ease and speed of his movements. He graduated with the class of '95 in the course of natural sciences, and is about to join Prof. Johnson and a few students, who are engaged in biological work at San Pedro during the avcation. His home is in Oakland, and he expects to spend at least one more year at Berkeley in post-graduate work.

CONFEDRIT X ROADS.

(Wich is the state of Kentucky,)

January 22, 1878.

I ain't so certin that I want the silver bill to pass ex I wuz. The fact is, the thing don't work ex I sposed it wood, and I ain't clear onto it. There is suttle principles in these finanshel questions wich require a great deel ux thought, and there is underlying principles wich a man has got to understand afore he is competent to set hisself up ex authority.

One thing I am certain uv, Bascom ain't no finanseer, nor never will be, and I told him so.

"Wat is a finanseer?" asked he.

"A finanseer," sed I, assoming the look of Dan'l Webster, "is a man wich kin pay his debts with nothin—a man wich kin gft suthin with nothing."

"The Corners, then, is full of finanseer," he remarkt, bitterly, castin a casual glance at his slate wich wuz just full enulf to turn over and begin on the tother side.

But he hesn't any uv the science uv it. I wuz argooing with him the other day in favor uv my noshun uv a leather currency, though I told him silver wuz much the same thing, and, for example, I would assoom that silver wuz to be the currency uv the fucher.

"Now, don't you see, Bascom, that ef I had twict ez much whisky, and pay for it?"

"How much is twict nothing?" wuz for it?"

"'How much is twict nothing?" wuz the unfeelin anser uv the tyrant who holds the destinies uv the Corners in his hands. "That's wot yoor capitle hez been ever sence I knowd yoo.'

"Parson," sed he, "I don't see what earthly difference it's going to make whether silver is currency or anything else. How are yoo a-goin' to git silver ef it is made legal tender? Ef silver ef it silver ey plenty ez bricks, w'at hev yoo whether silver is currency or anything else. How are yoo agoin' to git sliver ef it is made legal tender? Ef silver wuz ez plenty ez bricks, w'at hev yoo got to git any uv it with?"

"Troo, G. W.," wuz my answer; "but can't yoo see that to hev silver wood releeve the dettor class? Even now, afore it is legal tender, it's only wuth $2 cents on the dollar, and when the country is floodid with it, it will go still lower. Then we—or rather sich uv us es hev property to raise money on—kin pay, off—"
"Eggsactly so," retorts Bascon; "you kin pay me for the good honist likker uv mine, w'ich you hev consoomed in coin w'ich is less than the dollar yoo promised. All rite. But look here—come in here all uv yoo. I want yoo silver men to know exactly w'at yoo are rushin' into."

And this feend led us into the back room—that back room wich contanes the subsistence uv the Corners. There, in long rows, wuz Bascom's stock. There, in barrils, piled one on top uv another, wuz the delishus whisky uv Louisville, uv different ages, rangin' from that uv two weeks old to that w'ich had jist left the still, and scarcely cold yit. There it lay, and ez my eye ranged affeckshunately over it, I felt ef I cood hev the drinkin' uv all that likker I wood be content to lay down and die when the last drop wuz gone.

Bascom p'inted to an immense tank w'ich he hed erectid, within a few days, with a pipe running in from the roof.

"I sha'n't raise the price uv likker in consekence uv bein' paid for it in a depreshiatid currency!" sed he,

I fell on Bascom!" seek, in an extacy uv delite, while the others should, "Rah for Bascom" in the placed yoo much below the angels, but this generous act has histid yoo a 100 per cent.

"G. W.," I remarked, while teers suffoosed my eyes, "I never placed yoo much below the angels, but this generous act has histid yoo a 100 per cent.

"But I'll tell yoo w'at I shell do. Do yoo see that tank" sed he.

And Bascom stalked basely and took his possishen behild his basel. Ther wux consternashun in the Corners sich ex I hev never seen. Ther wux a hurried consultashen at the Deeklin's house, and I sejested that we emancipate ourselves from the dominyun uv this tyrant by startin' a grosery uv our own, on the joint stock principle, which wux agreed to, each man agreen' to contribbit $10 to the capitle stock, wich wood be enuft to buy a barl or two, for a beginnin.

We wux enthoosiastic till we come to ballotin for the man to keep the place, when it wux found institu w my bein chosen yoonanimusly, ex I eggspected to be, that every man hed votid for hisself. Ex not a soul uv em would recede, the skeem wux blocked rite there, and inciby hed to be abandoned, and we went back to Bascom's and submitted. That tyrant hes us.

Uv course we can't stand likker dilootid in that manner. We are willin enuft to diloot the currency with which we pay for likker, but we want our likker full strength. We coodent help it, but that nite we signed and sent to our Representative a remonstrance agin the silver bill. The Corners is now for a honest currency. Wood, 0 wood, that we hed some uv it.

Manufactured Diamonds.

(Demorest Magazine:) If that ingenious animal, man, strays much further along the paths of discovery and invention poor old Mother Nature will find her occupation almost gone. The latest successful attempt of science to emulate the workings of natural laws has been in the making of diamonds. These marvelously-beautiful minerals are simply crystalized carbon. The theory of their formation is that fiery, eruptive matter is thrown into an upper layer of earth rich in carbon, which, slowly coolling, assumes the crystalline form. The question occurred to a French scientist. "Why cannot I crystallize carbon and so make diamonds?" He has recently performed experiments with wrought iron carbon, which he melted and then very slowly cooled. Tiny, but sparkling diamonds were the result. Almost simultaneously with the French discovery of the process of diamond manufacture a Russian chemist announced that he, too, could make artificial diamonds. Each man had carried on his investigations wholly without knowledge of the work of the other, and, except that the Russian used sliver carbon, the method and results were nearly the same. The stones are very small as yet, but, it is said, that it will soon be possible to make them of a marketable size.

GONE FOR CARRAZZI.

DETECTIVE BRADISH STARTS FOR NEWARK, N. J.

Colored People Offered to Pay His Expenses, but Chief Glass Would Not Permit It-Sheriff Burr's Position Correctly De-

Detective Bradish left for Newark, N. J., yesterday afternoon to bring back Glovanni Carrazzi, the murderer of Roy Kenner.

A delegation of colored men waited on Chief of Police Glass yesterday morning and offered to advance the money to defray the expenses of extra-diting the prisoner, but Chief Glass in-formed them that it was not necessary for them to do so. He did not mean to allow Carrazzi to go free, and he had just received a telegram from the Chief of Police at Newark stating that the prisoner would be held subject to his orders till August 1.

Chief Glass assured the delegation that he would bring Carrazzi back at his own expense if necessary, but would not do so until he was satisfied that the Supervisors would not help him out.

About noon Sheriff Burr telephoned Chief Glass that he was prepared to send a deputy after the prisoner unless the Chief had made up his mind to send a man himself. The Chief replied that he was prepared to do so, and Detective Bradish, therefore, left on the 2 p.m. train, Bradish and the Chief putting up their own money for the trip and waiting for the State to reimburse them.

Sheriff Burr's position in the matter and waiting for the State to reimburse them.

Sheriff Burr's position in the matter has been inadvertently misstated. He at all times has been ready to go after the prisoner if so ordered by the Supervisors, but did not wish to do so unless the Chief of Police absolutely refused to send a man. The Sheriff did not make his going conditional on being given credit for assisting in the capture. Although his office did some work on the case, the capture of Carrazzi was due to the efforts of the police department, to whom Burr is willing full credit shall be given.

whom Burr is willing full credit shall be given.

It was at the solicitation of the Sheriff and the District Attorney, however, that Gov. Budd offered $300 reward. Chief Glass does not claim that he was instrumental in bringing about the Governor's action, as has been stated.

Députy District Attorney Holton's advice to the Supervisors in regard to refusing to guarantee the expense of bringing to guarantee the expense of bringing Carrazzi back, he says, is strictly in accordance with the law. If previous administrations have stretched a point in such cases, that fact does not warrant the present administration to do so.

not warrant the present administration to do so.

Honors are even now. The Supervisors, the District Attorney's office, the Sheriff and the Chief of Police all appear justified in the stand taken by each and the murmurs of the colored population have ceased since an officer has started to bring back the cold-blooded murderer of one of their race.

Besides the above-named teachers, the board has appointed Miss Rose Everett an additional teacher and Miss Mary Diehl a substitute teacher. Miss Everett's appointment is conditional upon there being sufficient funds in the treasury to pay her salary. This lady will be designated to teach in the Third Ward school.

The board decided that the salaries for the coming year shall remain the same as last year, with the probable exception of the teacher of modern languages. The board thought that, in view of the fact that this teacher was not engaged during all the day, his salary should be reduced. The matter will remain in abeyance until a subsequent meeting of the board.

Dan O'Kelly has passed through the ordeal of the second of the series of cases that has been brought against him for trying to do up the photo-enlarging solicitor. The case against him for battery was heard in Justice Crane's court before a jury of his peers Monday afternoon. From the evidence it appeared that there could not be any doubt as to O'Kelly's conviction, but to the surprise of the bystanders the jury doubt as to O'Kelly's conviction, but to the surprise of the bystanders the jury disagreed. The jury stood 10 to 2 for acquittal. In answer to the question, "Why did the jury fail to agree?" the jurymen said it was because some of the jurors thought that O'Kelly should be convicted for the reason that he was drunk at the time he made the assault. Severe strictures have been made upon the conduct of the jury, for all concede that our jury system is made a farce of when jurymen fail to convict because the defendant was drunk at the time he committed the offense. Should this precedent become established in this community, then all a fellow would have to do to be acquitted of a crime would be to prove that he was intoxicated at the time of the commission of the act.

It is understood that Bynon is a reporter on a Santa Ana paper. A warrant was placed in the hands of Dan Martin, Constable, and he left for Santa Ana this morning (Tuesday) to execute the same. As soon as the Italian could divest himself of his clothes he plunged in and sank to the bottom. Cooley made an extraordinary effort and succeeded in landing the fellow.

How There Are Women Priza.

Hew There Are Women Prigs.

(The Spectator:) The single daughter of a house without sons is, of all women, the most apt to grow into a self-sufficing prig, and a number of daughters without brothers will often display, in a less degree, the same proclivity. There is often, too, a furious spirity of rivalry. Brotherless women have no chance of learning, as children, in what they can rival or surpass men, and in what they must infallibly, by the operation of the mere laws of nature, be outstripped. They have not the opportunity of learning, without thinking, wherein men intend to rule, have ruled from the beginning, and will rule to the end. It is not, as a rule, from the houses where there are sons and daughters both, that mannish women come, but from the houses where there are no sons, or where the sons are exceptionally weak.

The boys in a mixed household beat the girls in all boys' work so easily, so continuously, and so permanently that rivalry in their pursuit dies away, and the girls turn without effort and without much disappointment to their own proper field. Above all, they learn early, of "putting up with things," including a certain amount of what many women now describe as oppression—the greater expenditure, for instance, on boys who are destined to maintain households; their greater ilbreality, which proceeds from unalterable oir cumstances and cannot be changed; and their much later introduction into the active life and business of the world. The girls without brothers, we think we may assert with confidence, are as wives much less liable to get irritated with their husbands than the girls without them.

The insanity dodge has so often been played by men charged with criminal acts in order to escape the penalties feared from the courts, that such a plea no longer possesses the slightest element of novelty. It remains for C. E. Mayne, a San Diego defendant, charged with attempting to bribe the Common Council, now under indict-ment by the grand jury, to put the "insanity dodge" to a hovel use. Mayne does not claim that he personally is fusane. But he files a challenge to each member of the grand jury, alleging that each of these jurymen is insane. This is considered rather rough on the grand jurymen. At this rate Mayne may next challenge the sanity of the court.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES. Another Phase of the Question.

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—(To the Ed-LOS ANGELES, July 8.—(To the Editor of The Times:) The July number of Self-Culture states; "A San Francisco dispatch says that California is being flooded with Japanese labor, every steamer from the Orient, Honolulu and Victoria bringing laborers in large numbers, in violation of the alien contract labor law. Within the last year about ten thousand Japanese have found employment on farms and in year about ten thousand Japanese have found employment on farms and in vineyards, and white farm hands are idle by the thousands." Now, instead of our daily papers devoting so much brain, time and space, ridiculing women that are compelled to earn their living, let them exercise some of that same power to persuade their brother farmers to employ their white brothers, out of work.

Pawned Pompey's Clothes.

A young colored man named Dan Flowers was tried in Justice Owens' court yesterday for stealing Pompey Smith's wardrobe while the latter was in Jail. Flowers tried to prove that he took the clothes on a written order from Smith, but Pompey had not crdered him to pawn them. Flowers explained this by stating that he had no black clothes to wear to his mother-in-law's flueral, so he pawned Pompey's effects that he might appear in appropriate mourning. The court took the case under advisement.

MUCH-WANTED BURGLAR HAS

Meer Holleran Surprised Him in the Act of Robbing a Store-He Claims to be Well Connected in St. Louis.

Police Officer Michael Holleran was the hero of the force yesterday. Unexpectedly and alone he captured a burglar whom the detectives had been after for more than a week, but who baffled their skill. A few minutes before 3 o'clock yesterday morning, while Holleran was walking his beat, he noticed that there was no light in Raiphs Bros, 'grocery store, at the corner of Sixth and Spring streets. This aroused his suspicion, and he tried the front door, which was locked. Then he went to the side door, which was open, and there he met a man coming out. In an instant the officer's revolver was in the intruder's face, and the latter threw up his hands. A moment later the prisoner lay flat on his back, and the "darbles" were on his wrists. He proved to be a real, live burglar, sure enough. It developed that he had rifled the cash drawer and the safe, which was unlocked, but had secured only about $3.30 in coin.

When taken to the station the burglar said his name was Cyrus D. Cameron, and gave quite a history of himself, which he afterward repeated to a Times reporter. He also confessed having committed three other burglaries—Patten & Davis's office, at No. 360 East Second street, Saturday night a week ago; the California Door Company's office, at Second and San Pedro streets, the same night, and Naftzger & Stewart's office in The Times Building last Saturday night. He secured very little booty at any of these places.

Cameron'is a tail, sickly, young man about 30 years old, and claims to be a son of the late Alexander Cameron of St. Louis, He says his father was a friend of Gen. Sherman, who got him the position of architect of the government business men in St. Louis, which cost several million dollars. His brother, E. A. Cameron, he says, is now a prominent business men in St. Louis, which cost several million dollars. His brother, E. A. Cameron is an intelligent fellow and well educated, but bears traces of disease and dissipation. He was arraigned yesterday afternoon on three charges of burglary, and held on $2000 bail for of burglary, and held on $2000 examination, July 11 at 3 p.m.

a little band of profligate nobles might feast and dance and dress in lace and silks and priceless jewels. For centuries they had been ground down by an absolute monarch, who robbed them or murdered them or cast them into prison as his fancy suggested.

Then the people arose. "We will destroy the King's prison," they cried. The nobles laughed scornfully. "The Bastile is impregnable," they answered. "There are cannon on its towers which can destroy the canaille and their dens in an hour.

But the people gathered. They burnt down the oaken doors; they burst their way in; they set free the prisoners. The söldlers flung down their arms, for they could not slay their brothers. In twenty-four hours the impregnable fortress was but a ruin. With that night began the struggle which ended in liberty for France.

Such was the glorious triumph for universal liberty, which the French of

Meeting of the Northwestern Improvement Association.

Meeting of the Northwestern Improvement Association.

The Northwestern Improvement Association beld its regular weekly meeting last evening in Bonttier Hall, corher of Montreal and Bellevue avenue, with President Thomas Kelly in the chair. The attendance was small.

The formalities were a little disarranged by the absence of the secretary and his minutes. M. Gillespie was elected assistant secretary, since that post had been left vacant at last Tuesday's election. J. M. Craig was admitted to membership.

President Kelly delivered a short speech, urging the members to devote their full energies to the development of the Second Ward. He next announced the names of the chairmen of the Committee on Streets; W. Bartels, Lights and Water; W. A. Stratton, Schools; James A. Craig, Street Railways; A. C. Summers, Health and Sanitation; C. S. Miles, Parks and Boulevards.

Plans were discussed for raising the membership and increasing enthusiasm. Messrs, Stratton and Joyce engaged in a lively discussion over the enlargement of the Castelar-street school, which was finally declared out of order by the president, since the School Board has already decided the matter.

Retiring Treasurer Miles reported that whenever the secretary, should be absent his salary for the evening should go to the assistant secretary. Thereupon the meeting adjourned.

Commissioner Barham stated that his resignation as a Police Commissioner would be presented to the Council next Monday. A large delegation of city officials made a tour of incity, under the guidance of Superintendent Meserve.

The case which excited the greatest interest at the Courthouse yesterday was the examination of the witness in the Chinese murder case, accused of felony in offering to receive a bribe. Arthur Perry was arraigned upon the charge of forgery, and was sentenced to three years at San Quentin. The old suit of Bryson vs. McCone has been resumed in Department Four.

At the conclusion of the testimony, Commissioner Barham moved that the officer be exonerated from the charges preferred against him. While there seemed to be no doubt in the minds of the Commissioners that Officer Baker is disposed to exceed his authority as an officer, yet it could not be proved that he was guilty of the specific charges preferred against him by Mr. Brainerd. The motion was, therefore, carried. The Chief was instructed by the board to administer a severe reprimand to the officer, and inform him more clearly as to the nature of his duties as an officer. Commissioner Webber then brought up the charges which he had preferred against officers Hill and Davis. Officer Hill appeared before the board and explained why he was not present at the street fight occurring a few rods from street light occurring a few rods from the corner of First and Main streets, where the officer was on duty. After listening to his statement, the motion was made and carried that Officer Hill be suspended for thirty days, and that Officer Dayis be reinstated with a reprimand for his action in releasing a man whom he had arrested at this fight. The board then proceeded with the regular business of the meeting.

The application of Theodore Timm for a saloon license at No. 1620 San Fernando street, San Fernando, was referred to the Chief.

The application of F. Conrad for a transfer of the saloon license at No. 112 Commercial street, from George Graft to himself, was granted. The application of C. H. Axtell for appointment as special officer was granted. The report of the Chief was received, showing the total amount of money recived during the month of June by the police department from fines and other sources to be 32031.22. The petition of Brown & Schwickert, asking the board to reconsider the action in revoking the saloon license granted to them at No. 117 East First stret was denied. The application of Thomas Rilly for appointment as special policeman was denied. The petition of William Dolenty, asking for a rebate on his saloon license at No. 158 San Fernando street, was referred to the Chief.

George Cummings appeared before the board, asking that a license be granted him to conduct a saloon in his hotel on Fifteenth and Cummings streets, in Boyle Heights, Mr. Cleveland, a resident from that portion of the city, was present, and protested against the granting of the license. The sentiment in Boyle Heights appears to be very much against saloons, even of the semi-respectable kind, which Mr. Cummings assured the board he would conduct. Upon the motion of Commissioner Barham, the application was denied.

The rumor with regard to the intention of Commissioner Barham the appears to be very much against saloons, even of the semi-respectable kind, which Mr. Cummings assured the board he would conduct. Upon the moti

The East Side Park was then visited, and the grounds found to be in excellent condition. This park only needs proper railroad facilities to make of it a spiendid resort for the people living in East Los Angeles and other portions of the city as well. From the East Side the party journeyed to Elysian Park, where Superintendent Meserve pointed out the grand possibilities which lie dormant in the stretch of territory now known as Elysian Park. The view obtained from the various points of elevation in the park is excellent, and the party frequently drew rein to take in the panorama of beauty spread out before them in the valleys below.

At Echo Park the superintendent had prepared a quantity of elegant cut flowers for the members of the party. These were distributed, and received with expressions of delight. They were found later adorning the desks of the femining employees in the City Hall.

From Echo Park the drive was made to Westlake Park, where but little time was spent for inspection or other pur-poses, the hour having become rather late.

Superintendent Meserve reports hav-ing rid this park of a number of dis-reputable characters, who were in the habit of making a headquarters of the place.

The estimate of expenses for the City Engineer's office next year has been completed by Mr. Compton, and was yesterday filed with the City Auditor. Chinese Case.

Alexander Burness, Sam Reddick and Harry Coyne, alias "Jack" Coyne, were yesterday brought before Judge Young for examination on the charge of felony, committed in offering to absent themselves from the trials of Wong Wing and Wong Chee, as accessories to the murder of little Lou Suey, in consideration of a bribe from the counsel for the defense.

Harry Coyne is a detective in the employ of George Insley, and was commissioned by him to ascertain the whereabouts of Alexander Burness and Sam Reddick, two witnesses largely Instrumental in the conviction of Wong Chuey, upon the night of the murder of Lou Suey.

peared for the prosecution, and, by request. Henry T. Gare, Bag., was associated with him. F. W. Guthrie, Esq., appeared as counsel for Burness, and W. T. Kendrick, Esq., for Reddick. Coyne was without counsel.

The room was well filled with interested spectators, among whom were several of the inevitable Chinamen who hover about like stormy petrels whenever anything relating to the murder of Lou Suey comes into court.

Harry Coyne was the first witness put upon the stand, and, although there was a good deal of wrangling as to whether, being one of the defendants, his testimony could be admitted for the prosecution, the objection from the defense was finally withdrawn, and the witness was examined.

Coyne told substantially the same story that has already been published. He is a detective of seven years' experience, being formerly employed in Field's Detective Agency of St. Louis. Coyne has had experience in nearly every part of the United States, and came to Los Angeles about two weeks ago, hunting work. He was given this commission by Detective Insley, and at once set about it.

He made the acquaintnce of Burness and Reddick, and soon ascertained that neither of them had seen the shooting, Reddick having been in one of the "cribs," the second from Ferguson alley, and Burness in a small alley of Ferguson alley.

The letters exchanged between the parties were introduced in evidence and Coyne declared the first one to have been concocted by Burness and Reddick of their own free will, and without any suggestion from himself. Burness assured Charley Ah Him that Coyne was "all right," and the highbinder told him to bring Coyne around, as he wanted to see him. Coyne fell into all their plans with great apparent case, and the scheme for extracting money from Gage was complete before the trap was sprung.

Detective McKenzie was next called, and ordered to produce the original letters from Gage. They had been given to the father of Burness, but were soon produced and filed in evidence.

Mr. Gage was then sworn, and tes dence.

Mr. Gage was then sworn, and testined that he was the attorney for all the defendants in the Chinese murder case; that he had received the letters and written the answers as testined, and that he had intended to subpoona the two boys as witnesses within a day or two from the receipt of the first letter.

Cipriano Ortego, a Yuma Indian, was yesterday brought before Judge Clark on the charge of insanity, and duly committed to Highlands.

Ortego is about 25 years old, and has been subject to epilepsy from childhood. He has been an inmate of the Sisters' Hospital for the last two months, an has made things exceedingly uncomfortable, drawing a knif upon a fellow patient and otherwise proving himself a dangerous maniac.

Arthur Perry, a young man of 23, who was "down on his luck," made a sudden jump yesterday from freedom to the pentientiary, through the medium of a forged check.

Upon motion of the District Attorney, an information was filed yesterday in Department One, accusing young Perry of the crime of forgery. He was present in court, and was at once arraigned, pleaded guilty, waived all legal rights, and was sentenced without further delay to Ban Quentin for a term of three years.

lay to San Quentin for a term of three years.

Perry is a man of good family and education, but bad luck brought him to scratching gravel with a gang of laborers out at Westlake Park. In an evil moment he sought to better his condition with money dishonestly gained.

On May it he forged the name of W. C. Calhoun upon a check for $15, drawn upon the Southern California National Bank, and indorsed by Cohn Bros. The forgery was discovered, and Parry owned up at once and took the consequences like a man, declaring that after his term in San Quentin was served, he meant to come back and live down his crime and disgrace.

Another information accusing him of forging the name of M. W. Stimson upon a check for $7.50 was dismissed, and he was sent up for the first count alone.

Demurrer Sustained.

The case of H. W. Ames vs. William H. Bonsall, F. M. Nickell, Daniel Innes, William H. Rhodes, John Q. Tutts, C. H. Alford, D. M. McGarry, Theodore Summerland, Samuel Rees and E. H. Dalton, came before Judge Van Dyke yesterday.

The complaint was that the defendants diverted the waters of the Los Angeles River from their proper channel, and thereby damaged growing crops belonging to the plaintiff in the sum of $9140.

The land belonging to Ames is situated south of this city, and the soil being of a light and sandy character, irrigation is a vital necessity. The complaint claims that there should be sufficient surplus of water in the river, after all the needs of the city are supplied, to flow down and irrigate the leands below, and that, in consequence of this diversion by the defendants, the plaintiff lost 15,000 eucalyptus and 1560 pepper trees, as well as large crops of alfalfa, corn and pumpkins.

A demurrer stating that the complaint did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause for action, and that the action was barred by provisions of the civil code, was filed in answer to this complaint, and was sustained by order of the court, the decision asserting that an action upon a contract, obligation or liability, not founded upon an instrument in writing, is barred within two years. As an action at law founded upon a tort or wrong comes within this provision of the code, and the tort or wrong complained of occurred not later than December 15, 1892, while the complaint was filed June 13, 1895, more than two years after the cause of action accrued, the demurrer was sustained on the ground stated.

David Cunningham, an infant of 18 nonths, by David Cunningham, his rusrdian, ad litem, has brought suit for 110,000 damages against the Los Angeles Railway Company, on account of injuries sustained in being run over by an electric car:

juries sustained in being run over by an electric car.

A complaint on judgment has been flied by S. G. Goss, plaintiff, against W. B. McCormick and R. Williams, praying for judgment in the sum of $346, with interest, due on a denciency judgment of $107 given for the plaintiff on a suit for $1404, settled in June, 1890.

Petition for letters of administration of the estate of Charles Jardin, deceased, has been filed by F. le Talliec.

Catherine E. Smith and James H. Smith have filed a suit against W. E. de Groot and his wife, A. D. de Groot, to cancel a chattel mortgage and recover possession of lot No. 20, block No. 2, of the Rosas tract; also of certain articles of personal property.

tion for a new trial was yesterday denied by Judge Shaw.

The case of Tinker vs. Goldman, to foreclose a mortgage, was tried yesterday in Department Five. Judgment for $1500 was awarded to the plaintiff.

AT THE U. S. BUILDING.

G. B. McIntosh, M.D., of Pasadens, was yesterday brought before Commis-sioner Van Dyke on the charge of havsioner Van Dyke on the charge of having sent matter through the mails prejudicial to the character of the person to whom it was addressed.

McIntosh found this too healthy a country for the successful practice of his profession, so took to selling clothing on commission. One of his customers was Fred R. Brown, who gave McIntosh an order upon one J. R. Paul, alleging that the latter owed him money.

This was found by McIntosh to be a mistake, inasmuch as Paul denied owing Brown anything, and refused to honor the order.

McIntosh thereupon swore out a warrant for Brown's arrest upon the charge of issuing a false order, but kindly warned Brown of his intention to do so, by sending him a postal card, stating that the arrest was not contemplated through any personal ill-will for himself, but through a disinterested desire for the good of the State.

This disinterested desire, so incautiously expressed, has had the effect of bringing G. B. McIntosh, M.D., before the commissioner, and of giving him the alternative of either paying $250 by noon today, or of taking some rather unpleasant consequences.

WESTERN LINES ARE WATCHING

Fast Train Service-More Stranger

An Associated Press dispatch from Chicago says the Eastern roads are now blaming the action of the passenger department of the Trunk Line Association for the chance they claim it gave to the Erie road to demoralize business to and from the Christian Endeavor convention. It is claimed that no provision was made for the appointment of a joint agent or the certification of tickets until after the brokers had been given ample opportunity to stock of tickets until after the brokers had been given ample opportunity to stock up with tickets in a liberal fashion. The Erie, discovering a good deal of underhanded manipulation going on, took measures to capture the lion's share of the husiness. This, they thought, was better than to make complaint which could only come up for hearing long after the business was on the market. The outlook is now that the holders of tickets will have no trouble in having them honored, no matter how late the time limit of the return may be set.

Southern California Science Association met last evening to plan for the work of the coming year. The programme of the past year having proven itself to be of great value, and to have given much satisfaction, it was unanimously decided to make the programme for the ensuing year if possible of still greater importance. To this end a programme committee consisting of B. R. Baumgardt, Prof. A. J. McClatchie and Maj. E. W. Jones, was appointed to prepare a syllabus of lectures, said syllabus to be presented to the association for action at its next meeting, in September. It was thought advisable by the Executive Committee to as far as possible arrange the programme in the future so that each evening shall include two lectures or papers.

A matter of great importance—the formation of sections—which has been before the association for some months already, was taken up and discussed in detail. It was finally decided to form two sections to commence with, one biological and one astronomical. Prof. Metropole.

BEET-SUGAR MANUFACTORY RE-OPENED AT CHINO.

Largest of Its Kind in the United Improvements.

Capacity One Thousand Tons of Beets a Day-Thirty Thousand Gallons of Oil Burned Daily.

Interesting Description of Buildings and Plant-How Beets Are Transformed into Sugar-Acreage of the Company.

A pleasant day, a pleasant ride through a charming bit of country, and a pleasant time make the record of the trip of a Times reporter yesterday to

The occasion was an equally pleasant one. Mr. Holabird, general mana-ger of the Chino Ranch Company, had xtended an invitation to some friends members of the press of Los Angeles to be present on the opening day of the operations for the present season of the Chino sugar-beet factory. Quite a number profited by the invitation. After a forty-mile ride over the South ern Pacific, a special train, provided for the occasion, met the party at Ontario. From there it proceeded over the Chino Valley Railway to the town of Chino. the sugar company and even if it is a the sugar company and even if it is a narrow-gauge line there is nothing narrow-gauge about the way the train gets over the ground. Mr. Holabird met the party at Ontarjo and accompanied the members of it to Chino. On arriving there all proceeded directly to the sugar factory. These great works, situated in the valley, can be seen long before arriving at the station, the immense smokestacks and great lime-kiln with its circular stair being a landmark for miles around. mark for miles around.

THE BUILDINGS. The structure, comprising the works is an imposing one. It is really a double building, or to be still more accurate, is an imposing one. It is really a double building, or to be still more accurate, two buildings situated parallel to each other and connected by double iron suspension bridges, which afford communication between the upper stories. They are of brick, and, necessarily, of very solid construction. The two buildings are sufficiently separate to allow a double railway track between them. On one track the loaded train of beets pulls in, unloads, and then switches back onto the sidetrack onto the main line. The buildings are dominated by their immense smokestacks and circular lime-kiln, the latter being almost as high as the smokestacks and driedlar lime-kiln, the latter being almost as high as the smokestacks and these latter are so high that, when looking at them from the valley at a point to take them in without craning the neck, one might easily suppose them of having a diameter of fully three feet. The fact is, however, as would be learned on asking, that their diameter is nine feet. The diameter of the lime-kiln is twenty-six feet and is in itself a remarkable construction. From the summit of it can be obtained the finest view to be obtained of that great valley, which stretches from the San Bernardino Mountains all the way to the sea.

IN THE FACTORY.

IN THE FACTORY.

IN THE FACTORY.

On arriving at the works, which are situated close to the Southern Pacific and to the Chino Valley railway stations, the first thing notable to be observed is the furnace chamber. The word chamber imperfectly expresses the vastness of the place. It is over 200 feet in length by nearly 100 feet in breadth. In it are twenty furnaces, each one seemingly outvying its neighbor in hensity of flame. Flame! No; that doesn't seem to adequately express the idea the furnaces themselves are conveying. If there were only one furnace seemingly outvying its neighbor in Intensity of flame. Flame! No; that doesn't seem to adequately express the idea the furnaces themselves are conveying. If there were only one furnace the visitor might pass it by with a few moments' look. But as he passes from one furnace to another his comprehension of the terrific power, the flames possess grows in corresponding intensity. Before he has passed them all, even if he only looks into the jaws of a few, he better understands the almost unlimited power of that element when, as in this case, it is held in check by human power. Aithough this chamber is vaulted to a height of nearly forty feet, and well ventilated, the heat in it is intense. The engines are all high pressure, the gauge indicating 98 deg. Before this year coal was used as fuel. This year petroleum is used. This 'petroleum is a grand thing. The sugar, company, as has been stated, entered, some time ago, into a contract with the Puente Oil Convention of the large knowledge of it in one of the large sugar manufactories of Louislana. The sugar manufactories of Louislana. Th grand thing. The sugar company as has been stated, entered, some time ago, into a contract with the Puente Oil Company, the result of which was that a pipe line was laid from the Puente oil wells to the Chino sugar factory, a distance of fourteen miles, The oil through the pipe was turned on a few days ago, and in due course made its appearance at the Chino end like a charm. Connections with the boilers were immediately made, and today—their opening day—they are burning oil instead of coal. And let it be noted right here—en passant—that if any one wants to comprehend the advantage of petroleum over coal as a furnace fuel let him visit the furnace chamber of the Chino beetsugar works or other works of an equally extensive character, where petroleum is used. If he has any use for a furnace he will never use coal again. QUANTITY OF PETROLEUM USED.

The present quantity of petroleum used at he factory is 30,000 gallons a used at he factory is 30,000 gallons a day. The quantity seems enormous but large as it is, it will be greater than that in a few days, when the mill will be running to its fullest trapacity. The company has in storage, as a reserve, 47,000 barrels of petroleum in its tanks. This is equivalent to about 2,000,000 gallons, and that quantity it intends to hold as a reserve in order to guard against any unforeseen accident that might happen to the pipe between Puente and the factory. These 2,000,000 gallons would be sufficient for a little over two months, and as the factory this year will run for five months, such a provision is a wise one. As the crushing, of beets for the season draws to its close; that is to say, within about two months of its close, the run through the pipe from Puente will be shut off and the company will then start in on its reserve of oil. In this way accidents of want of fuel are avoided, while at the same time no unnecessary reserve of oil is carried over to the next season the same time no unnecessary reserv of oil is carried over to the next season

THE STEFFINS CHAMBER THE STEFFINS CHAMBER.

This room, which is almost as large as the furnace chamber below, is called he Steffins chamber, after the man who nvented the machine in use in it. Inder the old system a large perentage of the sugar of the beet went out in the waste. Under this new process the waste was greatly reduced. Then came James G. Oxenard, he present vice-president of the Chino lugar-beet Company, and by an invenion of his own so improved on the steffin process that he has succeeded in educing the percentage of loss of user going into the waste to a fraction of less than 3 per cent.

from that into second combination tanks, in which it is again subjected to a lime and carbonic acid gas treatment. A second time it is passed through a filter, after which it—the juice—is ready for the evaporators. It goes through four sets of evaporators, during which every atom of moisture is extracted. This latter process is termed among sugar men the quadruple process.

On leaving the evaporators the sugar, in its then state, is ready for the vaccuum tank, in which it is reboiled or dried out to a crystal or crystallized state. One might naturally suppose that after undergoing all these various processes it would be in a finished state, but not so. From the vaccum tank it is run into another large one in which it undergoes the crystallization movement, and by which it is kept in constant rotary motion during twenty-four hours. It may be mentioned here that this crystallization movement in use at the Chino mill does in twenty-four hours what it required one week to accomplish not long ago.

From these crystallizers the sugar is run into the centrifugals. Under this last process all molasses is spun off the crystals, leaving nothing but the pure crystals, leaving nothing but the pure crystals granules to remain; which are dropped from the centrifugals into last process all molasses is spun of the crystals, leaving nothing but the pure crystal granules to remain, which are dropped from the centrifugals into troughs with revolving screws from whence they are carried to an elevator, which takes them to a "bim." Even this does not finish the process to make it a marketable article such as the inhabitants of Los Angeles and other cities use in their coffee and tea. From this "bim" the sugar goes into a granulator, constructed in the form of an immense revolving drum, in the center of which is a revolving steam cylinder. The sugar is kept revolving around this steam cylinder, and when thrown off from it the lest vestige of moisture in the sugar has been dissipated. Then and not till then is the sugar, in the eyes of the company, a fit marketable commodity. From this revolving drum it is sent down chutes into bags and barrels and loaded on the railway cars.

CAPACITY OF THE MILL.

CAPACITY OF THE MILL.

There are two things which help to make the Chino beet-sugar factory interesting. One is that it is the largest one in the United States; the second is, that it is the only one of the large mills of the United States that takes the beet from the ground and turns it out a finished article. Some beet-sugar mills on the Pacific Coast and in Nebraska, notably the mill at Watsonville, which for beets has nearly as great a capacity as the Chino mill, turn out raw sugar, but do not refine. They send it to the sugar refineries, where the process of making it into white granulated sugar is completed. Not so, however, with the Chino mill. It takes the beet and it never lets go of it until it has turned it out at the other end of the factory in its fullest and highest condition, that of a perfect white granulated sugar. This is a fact that Southern California has to be pround of. It has CAPACITY OF THE MILL.

many things to be proud of, but in some of them other places or other countries come in as competitors. In the matter, however, here spoken of the Chino mill can, to paraphrese Louis XIV.'s celebrated saying, say: "Sugar? that's me!" It is, to repeat, the only great beetsugar manufactory of this hemisphere that has the right to say that within its own walls it turns a beet into white granulated sugar.

THIS YEAR'S WORK.

THIS YEAR'S WORK. The company will use this season close on to 100,000 tons of beets, the greater portion, if not all, of which will come from its own ranch of 6000 acres adjoining the factory, and from Anaheim, in Orange county. This year's yield will be nearly twice as large as that of last year, while at the same time the percentage of sugar in the beets will be The company will use this season close on to 100,000 tons of beets, the greater portion, if not all, of which will come be nearly twice as large as that of last year, while at the same time the percentage of sugar in the beets will be much higher. This is a very important point to the sugar-maker and to the beet-grower. From tests already made the percentage this year will average well up to 17. Of course, in some exceptional cases it will go beyond that, but 17 will be a good average. The output of sugar of the mill will this year be not less than from 18,000,000 to 20,000.000 pounds. It will all find market in Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico, with perhaps some of it getting as far as Kansas.

The average yield per acre this year is about fourteen tons. The factory pays $3.50 per ton for beets testing 12 per cent. of sugar. They don't care to buy any showing a lower test than that. The higher the percentage of sugar in the beet as shown in the test the higher the price paid. The average price per ton this year will be about $4.75. Some grown under the most favorable conditions test as high as 20 per cent. of sugar. The mill is now using 800 tons of beets a day with a working force of 300 men. Within the next few days the force will be increased to 350 men, when they will handle an average of close on 1000 tons of beets every day.

SUNDRY NOTES.

SUNDRY NOTES.

beets every day.

SUNDRY NOTES.

The company leases nearly all of its 7000 acres, three-fourths of the beet crop, going to the lessee, the remaining one-fourth going to the company. General Manager Holabird states that the company's income represented by this one-fourth alone and some other small leases it has made amounts to $65,000 ayear. The factory was started five years ago. The first year its expenses, pay-roll, etc., were $50,000. This year it will pay out over $400,000, while at the same time 1450 men will have employment. The buildings and plant represent an investment of close on $1,500,000, and further improvements will be made as requirements necessitate.

There is one little fact that might be mentioned. It will prove of interest to the dwellers of Anaheim and localities neighboring on that city. It is that the Chino company expects next year to have no use for Anaheim beets. Not that the latter are not as good as Chino. They are, and the Chino men are willing toacknowledge it, but the latter say they will have all the beets next year on their own ranch and adjacent localities they will require. Such being the case, it will behoove the Anaheim men to get together and arrange to provide a sugar factory of their own.

DISCUSSING PLANS FOR A CONSERV. ATORY OF MUSIC.

A Man Who Passed a Forged Check Extension of Oakland Avenue-Tennis Club Going Higher-People Going Away in Swarms.

PASADENA, July 9.-(Regular Corre-PASADENA, July 2.—(Regular Correspondence.) The meeting held yester-day afternoon in Kramer's Hall to discuss plans for establishing a conservatory of music was attended by a small number of prominent citizens who evinced a deep interest in the proposition of Prof. O. Stewart Taylor. Briefly, the plan is as follows: To secure one hundred pupils who will agree to take one lesson a week at $1 a lesson and to one lesson a week at $1$ a lesson and to give them and others one lesson a week in choral work free of charge. During the winter season two or three standard oratories will be given with the choral union thus formed. The plan as outlined met with the hearty approval of those present and in the furtherance of the movement circulars are to be sent to every home in Passadens, explaining the idea and inviting co-operation.

A FORGED CHECK.

A FORGED CHECK. Walter Everett is wanted for passin Walter Everett is wanted for passing a forged check on Ed Hobson of No. 29 North Fair Oaks avenue. Everett has been employed on the Toll trail and on the Fourth came down to Pasadena, where he asked Hobson to cash a check for $5. He represented that he had $100 in the San Gabriel Valley Bank and, as Hobson was acquainted with him, he persuaded the latter to have the check cashed, which was done at H. J. Vail's store after Hobson had indorred it. It was discovered the next day that the check was worthless and Hobson had to make the amount good. Since then the police have been looking for the forger, but have not yet learned his whereabouts.

A SERIOUS RUNAWAY.

As Mrs. Dr. Shoemaker, with her two children, were driving along East Colorado street this evening, the horse took fright and ran away, colliding with an express wagon, which caused the animal to break loose from the traces. Mrs. Shoemaker, who had the lines wrapped around her wrists, was jerked over the dashboard and dragged about thirty yards at a breakneck speed before the horse shook off her hold and dashed away. Passers-by ran to her assistance and found that she was quite badly injured. Dr. Van Slyck was hastily summoned and an examination showed that her eye was badly cut, she was bleeding at the mouth, her face was swollen, one arm was badly sprained and she was generally shaken up. Both children were thrown out of the buggy when it came to a stop, but they mirroulously escaped injury. The lady was taken to her home in Judge Magee's buggy and at last accounts was resting easily, A SERIOUS RUNAWAY.

PASADENA BREVITIES. PASADENA BREVITIES.

It would surprise some people if the names were known of the Pasadena ladies that regularly visit the condemned perjurer, "Rev." H. E. Howland, in his prison cell. Throughout all the public proceedings that have brought Howland's name into merited contempt, he has by his smooth talk and oily ways succeeded in keeping about him over a dozen feminine admirers that flocked devotedly to his standard on his first arrival in Pasadena. It seems that all a man has to do is to pretend, and, in spite of the law's exposure, plenty of credulous people, especially women, hasten to believe him, and to set him up for a God and worship him.

SAN DIEGO, July 9.—(Regular Correspondence.) C. E. Mayne, who has been indicted by the grand jury for attempting to bribe members of the Common Council to vote for a certain water proposition, proposes to make a desperate defense. Last week he filed a demurrer to the action of the people, claiming that an offer of a bribe which was not accepted did not constitute an offense. On Monday Judge George Puterbaugh of the Superior Court overruled the demurrer. Mayne's counsel has interposed a challenge to the grand jury upon the ground that the requisite number of balloits was not drawn from the jury box of the county in the manner provided by law before the jury was impanelled; that notice of the drawing of the grand jury was not given as provided by law, and that the drawing was not had in the presence of officers designated by law. Mayne files a challenge against each individual grand juror on the ground that each is a minor, an alien or insane; that each is a brosecutor upon the charge of the defendant, and that each was prevented from acting impartially in reference to the defendant. This challenge that members of the grand jury are insane betokens the fierce determination of the defendant. This challenge that members of the grand jury are insane betokens the fierce determination of the defendant. The may avoid the serious charge of bribery.

POMONA, July 9.—(Regular Corre-pondence.) Every seat in the opera-louse was taken by 8 o'clock last evencitizens from every quarter of eager to learn the outcome of the mass-meeting gathered to con of the mass-meeting gathered to con-sider the water question, that is, the possibility and practicability of the city of Pomona owning and controlling its own water plant, sufficient not only for its present needs, but for triple its pres-ent population, and for a suitable sewer system for its people.

The president of the Board of Trus-teess, E. H. Hutchinson, was in the chair and ex-president of the old board, John A. Gallup, acted as secretary, who.

under instructions from the chair, read the call of the citizens by petition for an investigation of water supplies by a committee; the report of said constituted committee, and the report of the City Engineer.

These reports showed that so far as quantity is concerned, there was plenty of water now developed in this valley that could be had for the purpose, the point being to secure it in what way, from whom, at what cost and where.

There were short talks made by several citizens present, among them exsenator J. E. McComas, Judge Franklin Blades, Judge Frank A. Newell, Trustee Landon, Gen. John Wasson, A. L. Taylor, Phil Stein, J. L. Means and P. J. Dreher, all of whom were, so far as the main point goes, in favor of the proposition that Pomona own and control her own water supply; in fact, by a rising vote, there were not more than a mere handful that did not so express themselves in favor of the same, the difference of opinion being as to the "modus operand" and details of the same.

Finally, the result attained was about this: That any company or corporation having water to sell, present at a future meeting (to be called by the chair) its proposition, with maps and full details as to water and lands as well as its proposition, with maps and full details as to water and lands as well as price.

That a committee of three engineers (the City Engineer and two other expert engineers,) two city trustees and three citizens be appointed (presumably by the chair) to collect data in all the bearings on this matter and report at the meeting to be called.

templating Important Change SAN BERNARDINO, July 9 .- (Regu lar Correspondence.) The Board of Su-pervisors have been in session the past two days, with an occasional relapse into a board of equalization, and among the items of interest will be the assuance of saloon licenses. This county has must be no saloon foisted upon them, and the Supervisors take the ground that one expression of such opinion covers considerable ground, in fact, runs for a year or more, while the saloon for a year or more, while the saldon men claim there must be a distinct "kick" at every distinct attempt to secure a license—the former opinion rules. At Chino there have been many attempts to establish a saloon, but the board, like a stone wall, protects the anti-saloon men, who are in the majority, and "no saloon" is still the cry among the beet-pullers. July 1 being license day, another attempt was made Saturday to irrigate the dry plains of Chino, Fred C. Schumacher being the applicant, and he made a bold stand for it, but as all the testimony was on the other side and he could not produce one poor old Vet. who would swear that a saloon would conduce to the morals of Chino, the application was refused and Chino is safe—so far. But it will not do for the Chinoise to rejoice too prematurely, or hallo until they are out of the woods, for E. Tisnerat immediately put in a plea for a winery at Chino, and the consideration was postponed until Friday of this week, when there will be another contest, and it is possible the beet-pullers may be beat this time. W. B. Broadwell of Los Angeles made a most pathetic appeal to be allowed to cool the the parched tongues of the inhabitants of Bagdad with a drop of spiritus frumenti occasionally, but he struck the same stone wall, which let him down easy by telling him to call around at the back door on Friday and, if there were some applicants who met with more success, because there is less opposition and the fortunate ones are for retail saloon licenses: A. B. Kaufman, Victor; Sydnor & Gallagher, Barstow; M. Walsh, Daggett; A. Falconer, Daggett; James McNeil, Calico; T. C. Mosly, Calico; Charles S. ONTARIO.

ONTARIO, July 9.—(Regular Correspondence.) One of the most unique schemes ever projected, even in the wildest days of the boom, is now being discussed for Ontario. A syndicate of capitalists is planning a magnificent mountain resort on Ontario Peak, which is almost due north of the town. It is proposed to reach this by means of a subterranean tunnel. This will be run into the base of the mountain until almost directly under the peak on which it is proposed to erect the hotel. From thence the trip will be made in an upright shaft much on the plan of the ordinary elevator. The peak is between 5000 and 5000 feet above sea level, and about 3000 feet above the mesa from which the tunnel would start. Connected with the hotel would be an observatory. The Harvard experts having already passed upon the desirability of the location for this purpose in the bowels of the mountain, it is proposed to excavate for elaborate cold-storage works, the natural temperature being low enough to keep fruit from spoiling. The ventilation would be of the best, and would obviate all danger from dampness. It is a great scheme. And it is claimed there is money enough behind it to carry the project to a successful consummation. The Mount Lowe Railway and Hotel have cost in the neighborhood of $800,000, and the promoters of this scheme claim that they can carry out their plans for a sum no larger.

Prizes for decorations on the Fourth have been awarded as follows: Best decorated store front, Racket Store; best decorated hall front, Odd Fellows' Hall; best decorated bicycle (ladies'), Miss Ina Pomeroy. By consent of all participating in the context, the prize for the best decorated bicycle went to little Harold Taylor, the club mascot. Herbert, the 12-year-old son of E. E. Duncanson, who lives about six miles south of Ontario, was accidentally shot and killed by his elder brother Monday night. Lowe, she will have fifty fine specimens, artistically arranged in a large ornamental frame. This pleasing exhibit will embrace the most conspicuous flowers to be met with between Echo Mountain and the summit of Mt. Lowe.

Perhaps the brilliant clusters which most frequently challenge attention, even to the base of the range, are the red or scarlet variety of the larkspur family—Delphinium cardinale. These are to be found in great profusion in the canyons, on the ridges, among the rocky crags and almost everywhere, and give the landscape a very gay appearance.

The Crusading Constable is Again Balked in His Fight Against Them-Deputy District Attorney James Refuses to Indorse His Complaints.

Yesterday Constable J. H. Johnston asked Deputy District Attorney James for complaints against Mms. Van, May Williams, Grace Carlyle and Mms. Bou-Williams, Grace Carlyle and Mme. Bou-langer, alleged keepers of houses of ill-fame. Mr. James gave him the blank complaints but refused to "O. K." them. He told Johnston he could fill out the complaints himself and present them to either of the city justices who could accept them and issue warrants on them without the District Attorney's them without the District Attorney's indorsement. It is the custom of the courts, however, not to accept any complaints that are not sanctioned by the District Attorney's office. It is not probable, therefore, that either Justice Owens or Justice Morrison will issue the warrants which the Constable will apply for today.

Owens or Justice Morrison will issue the warrants which the Constable will apply for today.

Constable Johnston stated yesterday evening that he would apply for the warrants just the same, and if refused, he will force the District Attorney to give 'him regularly indorsed complaints, which he claims he can do according to the law under which he is proceeding.

Deputy District Attorney James, in defining his position in the matter, stated that it was the opinion of the District Attorney's office that more harm than good would result from such action. The complaints asked for are against the keepers of the bawdyhouses only, and if they were arrested and their places closed, the inmates would scatter and ply their vocations in more respectable portions of the city, as was the result of the raid made on the houses a few months ago. Mr. James said the bagnios sought to be closed are in localities where they are least objectionable, and until the propertyholders in the vicinity demanded that they be suppressed, the District Attorney's office would not be a party to scattering the nuisances throughout the city...

In this connection it may be stated that Grace Carlyle, one of the women Johnston is seeking to have arrested, has closed her place, and several of her girls are located in a fashionable lodging-house adjoining one of the city's leading hotels. It is rumored that the Carlyle woman herself is on the eve of starting for Europe, to join a wealthy Los Angeles citizen now so-journing in Paris.

After a short programme charades were enjoyed and refreshments served.

The excavation at the corner of Second and Spring streets is of extreme in-terest to geologists. On careful exami-nation one finds first a thick layer of sandy gravel, mixed with waterworn boulders. It would seem that this spot was once the bed of a stream, and rewas once the bed of a stream, and re-sembles the Arroyo Seco. Then comes a stratum of soil full of the roots of trees, which once waved their branches over the madows of the neighborhood. Above is a thick deposit of broken china, tin cans, old shoes, mutton bones, shattered earthenware and rusty pleess of trop. Then comes a rusty pieces of iron. Then comes a very thin layer of gravel, with which Spring street was presumably covered in days long past. On top is promis-cuous dirt thrown in to raise the street to the level of its present pavement.
